

New Spencer Tract Seen By Public

The new Spencer Tract at the University of Arkansas' South-west Branch Experiment Station in Hope was the scene of a special visiting day activities, Aug. 18 as the public was given its first opportunity to see work being carried out on the Station's most recent land addition.

Dr. A. E. Spooner, associate agronomist and M. L. Ray, animal husbandman showed guests work being done in cattle and pasture research and discussed research planned for the future. Visitors saw pasture studies which included three major grazing pressure treatments. They were an over-grazed pasture situation, an optimally grazed pasture and an over grazed pasture.

"We are trying to find what effects these grazing pressure situations will have on future fertilization requirements; what effect they will have on the animals themselves and what future effects they will have on the pasture species," Dr. Spooner told visitors.

Dr. Spooner told of plans for another study to begin in the spring of 1962 for fertilizer research on Coastal Bermuda grass, common bermuda grass and Pensacola Bahia grass. This project calls for two acre grazing paddocks on which the effects of three types of fertilizers will be studied. The paddocks will be grazed by steers. Current studies are a cow and calf operation.

Dr. Ray told the visitors of feeding studies being carried out simultaneously with the grazing research. Using the same animals as used by Dr. Spooner, Dr. Ray is supplementing grazing by feeding half of the animals a high protein supplement and half a low protein supplement. In addition, half of the animals receive a mineralized salt and the remainder receive plain salt.

Since studies have only recently begun, no results were available to the visitors. The program was primarily to show how the new land is being used.

Groups toured the Spencer Tract by car. In addition to research work in pastures and cattle, they saw studies underway in timber insect control and forestry.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The J. H. Cross Cotton Co. of Pine Bluff submitted a high bid of 34.25 cents a pound Thursday for an estimated 3,000 bales of prison-grown cotton.

The Arkansas prison system is supported by income from crops grown at the Tucker and Cummins prison farms.

L. F. Briggman, one of the workers, told the city council Monday night the workers wanted an increase from $1 to $1.25 an hour. The council said no.

Next morning Briggman, W. T. Richardson and Verlon Brewer announced they were on strike.

Alderman M. C. Hodge said Thursday the cemetery work had to be done and the council would make replacements—at $1 an hour.

Not a very artistic surrounding, perhaps; but Crampton points out that transportation problems for the finished piece are simplified.

Insurance on Students Is Now Offered

A school child accident insurance plan, under which the parents of every enrolled child in the Hope Public School system will be offered low cost accident insurance, has been approved by the School Board for the sixth year, James H. Jones, Superintendent of Hope Public Schools, announced today.

A school accident plan will assure every child attending school in Hope School District adequate medical attention in case any accident occurs to him in connection with his normal school activities.

"What the plan will do for your child" pays up to $3,500 actual doctor, nurse and hospital expenses resulting from accidental injuries within a school building or on the school grounds or premises during the hours and on the days when school is in session, including the lunch period; or after school hours, or on days when school is not in session provided the insured is participating in any activity sponsored and supervised by the school.

Information explaining the plan will be sent all parents by the students. Please study this and, if interested, complete the application on the envelope and enclose the money and send back to the homeroom teacher. Students are covered when their money is turned in to the teacher.

Parents may select a plan that has 24 hours coverage — 12 months per year and provides complete accident coverage on a "Round-the-Clock" basis. Provides accident insurance not only at home, but at school or at play, on weekends and during the entire summer when school is not in session. The cost is $10 plus the price of the regular student policy for the 12 months coverage.

Summary of Cost:

$1.50 — Grades 1 thru 6
$1.50 — Grades 1 thru 6
"Around the Clock" Policy
$2.75 — Grades 7 thru 12
12.75 — Grades 7 thru 12

2nd Polio Victim for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A 17-year-old Russellville girl is Arkansas' second paralytic polio victim of the year, the State Health Department said today.

Dr. W. L. Bunch Jr., director of the department's division of communicable disease control, said both cases so far this year have been persons who have not had full advantage of polio vaccine.

The first case was a 9-year-old Miller County boy who had had three polio shots but had failed to take a recommended booster shot. The girl had not had any shots.

11 of Cuban Ship's Crew Ask Asylum

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Eleven crewmen of a Cuban freighter bound for the Soviet Union were brought ashore today after dropping anchor off Cape Henry and requesting political asylum in the United States. Crewmen said force was used in diverting the ship.

The State Department indicated in Washington the 11 defectors from the 34-man crew of the sugar-laden Bahia de Nipe would be allowed to remain in this country. The 11 included the captain and four other top officers.

The State Department advised the Fidel Castro government through the Swiss Embassy that it could reclaim the ship.

The 3,800-ton ship radioed Thursday she was headed for Norfolk. In the late afternoon she anchored in Chesapeake Bay. A Coast Guard cutter removed the defectors after they were questioned by immigration officials, leaving the other 23 crew members under the surveillance of another cutter.

A government official who talked with the men said he was told guns were brandished—but no actual shots were fired—aboard the Bahia de Nipe before she dropped anchor. The official, who asked to remain unnamed, said there was no other violence.

After the men were put ashore and headed for the transient barracks at the naval station one of the Cuban men appeared to go berserk. He broke away from the group and led officers on a two-block chase before he was caught.

The man, identified as Ramon Tocarante, 41, was taken to a U.S. Public Health Service hospital for observation.

Since the freighter's top officers were among those seeking asylum, it was assumed new officers would be sent from Cuba to take her on her way.

The Bahia de Nipe is owned by the Cuban government and operated by the Vacuba Shipping line. The 323-foot vessel was built by Consolidated Steel Corp. of Wilmington, Calif., in 1945 and named the Coastal Charger. She was returned in 1948 after her transfer to Cuban registry.

Mexico vs. U. S. in Davis Cup Singles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Two tennis competitors with the willingness to gamble under any circumstances face each other today in the opening Davis Cup singles match of the American Zone championships.

Chuck McKinley, 20, of the United States squad, a hustler from St. Louis, plays Rafael Osuna, 22, a power hitter of the Mexican team.

They were selected Thursday to open the best-of-five matches over the weekend on the Cleveland Skating Club's clay courts.

Two old pros will oppose each other in the second singles match today. Bernard (Tut) Barten, 33, of Dallas, Tex., battles Mexico's Mario Llamas, a poised, steady, sure-striking retriever. Llamas, also 33, is almost a carbon copy of Barten.

The American team, never beaten by Mexico, enters the matches as a slight favorite only because it is playing on home soil. The Mexicans, however, have looked sharp in practice and will be swinging to end the U.S. supremacy.

Customer Pushes Police Too Far

DUISBURG, Germany (AP)—A man called the police from a local bar and asked them to drive his car home because he had had one too many.

Obligingly, two officers complied, sent the man to bed put his car into his garage.

Half an hour later, there was a knock at the police station window. It was the motorist, happily waving a bottle of schnapps.

"I forgot to thank you for your kind help," he explained.

Parked beside him was his car. The officers picked up his license.

Reds Divide Berlin With Brick Wall

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communist rulers, miffed at the continued flight of a few refugees, began throwing up a brick wall inside East Berlin today to reinforce their barbed wire barricades.

Red guards shot up a heavy truck that three refugees rammed through the wire in the night. West Berlin police reported. But the men reached the haven of West Berlin unhurt. One bullet went into a house wall on the Western side.

With East Germany recruiting youths to swell its 110,000-man army, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a special session of his lower house in Bonn that West Germany will step up its military preparedness within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He gave no details. He promised cooperation with the Western Allies to get East-West negotiations started.

Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt joined at the session, called to consider the Berlin crisis, in attacking the Communist actions here as a violation of human rights.

Qualified diplomats in London said the United States, Britain and France were considering a token increase of their garrisons in West Berlin, now totaling about 11,000 troops. A British official said "Britain almost certainly will support and follow any lead set by the United States on this question."

A Western proposal to the Soviet Union for high-level talks on the future of Germany and Berlin appeared in the making.

Reliable sources in London said the United States, Britain and France are drafting new messages, probably to be dispatched to the Kremlin next week, that could lead to meetings of East-West foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

The messages would reply to Russian notes of Aug. 3 expressing willingness for negotiations aimed at concluding a German peace treaty. The Western Big Three, however, were reported as determined as ever to reject Premier Khrushchev's demands that West Berlin be made a disarmed neutral city and that peace treaties be signed with East and West Germany as separate states.

The East Germans' new brick wall rose on a strategic segment of the 25-mile sector border through which a trickle of East Germans was still escaping to the West.

From West Berlin, Communist engineers could be seen erecting the solid new barrier well behind the barbed wire, presumably to aid Red guards on the border with a no man's land.

At this stage of construction it was not possible to determine if the engineers intended to cover long stretches of the border or only certain spots difficult to guard.

Western authorities estimated about 150 persons daily were still outwitting the Communists.

Allied sources also said between 10 and 20 members of the East German guard force have deserted to the West this week with their weapons. They include members of the people's police, members of the workers' militia and at least one soldier of the East German army.

Many of the escapees bolted through or over the iron and wire fence flung across the city. A number swam the streams and canals that criss-cross the frontier.

Brandt charged in Bonn that the Great Wall of China "to keep the East Germans in and demanded that the United Nations deal with the situation as a 'flagrant violation of human rights.'"

Adenauer is being opposed by Brandt in West Germany's Sept. 17 election.

Calling All Antiques: Museum Is a-Building at the Arkla Village

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Do you own some antique item or an old and prized possession which you like to show to visitors? Perhaps there is a story concerning it that you like to tell. Most of us have something of that sort. Sometimes it is in our homes, but more often it is put away in an attic or storeroom.

What could be nicer than to have it taken care of properly and displayed for many, instead of just a few, to see? At Arkla Village in Emmet such a museum is now in the planning stage.

When you go to Arkla Village for Roundup Day on Aug. 26 you can see what we mean. So far they have an old wooden washing machine (have you ever seen one?), some old guns, an antique carriage, and a number of Indian relics. These and any other items you want to add to the group will be seen near the entrance to the buggy factory. Just go on the boardwalk next to the General Store and Saloon.

If the Village gets enough items a museum will be built to house them. They will be on display in showcases and kept under lock and key for protection. Their history will be placed on plaques with the names of the owners.

Oh, yes. You'll still own your contributions to the museum. Many would hesitate about putting them in another's hands, because they value them and do not wish to part with them.

The plan outlined for a museum at Arkla Village solves that problem. Not only will their ownership remain yours, but their protection will actually be increased. A member of the staff at the Village will be on hand at all times to oversee the museum and its prizes.

Why not look around and see if you have something others would be interested in viewing. Get in touch with someone at Arkla Village so that your prized possessions can be added to others at the display on Roundup Day, Aug. 26. E. L. (Blue) Archer at the Gasline Bowl would be glad to give you any additional information.

There will be no admission price to see the museum, as it will be a free public service. And, of course, none of the antiques will be for sale, as they will be much-loved items which money can't buy.

Brazil Hints Recognition to Red China

TOKYO (AP)—Brazil's Vice President Joao Goulart indicated today his visit to Red China is a step toward diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime.

Setting out from Peiping on a Chinese tour, Goulart said Brazil will maintain "an independent foreign policy to establish relations with people of various countries irrespective of different ideologies."

Brazilian President Janio Quadros already has begun negotiating with the Soviet Union to resume diplomatic relations after a 14-year break.

Canada to Let Forest Burn Out

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (AP)—Fires covering an estimated 30,000 acres of scrub timber in northern British Columbia will be allowed to burn themselves out, officials said today.

It's a question of access, manpower and money, a Forest Service representative said.

There are no roads into the area, roughly 400 miles northwest of here, where the six blazes are crackling.

U.S. Garrison at Berlin Is 'Beefed Up'

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has ordered a U.S. battle group of 1,500 men to cross through Soviet-dominated East Germany and reinforce the Allied garrison of West Berlin.

Kennedy issued the order Friday after conferring with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other advisers.

The Allied garrison in the Red-surrounded city of West Berlin numbers about 11,000 men, of whom 5,000 are Americans. The size of the U.S. buildup would put it in the category of a token expansion.

A Pentagon spokesman said the troops will come from one of five U.S. divisions stationed in Germany—the 24th Infantry at Augsburg, 8th Infantry at Bad Kreuznach, 3rd Infantry at Würzburg, 4th Armored at Göttingen or the 3rd Armored at Frankfurt.

The brief announcement of the increase, read by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, said:

"In view of recent developments, including the movement of East German military forces into East Berlin, the President has directed an appropriate increase in the U.S. garrison in Berlin."

"A battle group of approximately 1,500 men will proceed by way of the Helmstedt-Berlin Autobahn, arriving there on Sunday."

"This autobahn or superhighway route will take them about 110 miles through Communist East Germany, many of whose residents have been restless under Red rule."

With the battle group goes a platoon of three M41 light tanks. Such a reinforced battle group, a Pentagon spokesman said, would require more than 100 trucks to move the men, weapons, supplies and equipment—in addition to the tanks, jeeps and other vehicles.

Legislative Call Delayed This Week

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus will be out of Little Rock most of the weekend and will not make his call for a special session of the legislature until next week, he said Thursday.

Faubus said he will set next Thursday for the opening of a special session on finance. He may not issue the formal call until Tuesday.

Only the items listed by the governor in his call can be considered in a special session.

The special session may last two weeks and may cost $53,000. About 45 bills are being drawn in preparation for the session.

Apparently, Faubus has not completed the list of items he will include in the call. He has said he will not limit the special session to merely redistributing the money idled when the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional the governor's omnibus appropriations act.

Today, Faubus will attend the funeral of the late Squire Whorton of Huntsville. Then he will go to Fort Chaffee near Fort Smith to be the guest of the 95th Reserve Division.

Saturday, he will participate in a memorial service at the community cemetery at Combs, his home town.

Sunday he will take part in ground-breaking for the Arkansas Arts Center in Little Rock.

U. S. Road Aid for Arkansas Up 1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas will get an increase of almost $1 million in federal highway aid in the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1962.

Under a new apportionment announced at Washington Thursday, Arkansas will get $33,570,754 in the 1963 fiscal year. It is receiving $32,622,901 in the present (1962) fiscal year.

But none of the new allotment can be used until after the next fiscal year begins, said Ward Goodman, chief engineer of the Arkansas Highway Department.

The Commerce Department said the 1963 allotment was announced in advance to give the states more time for planning and surveys.

The 1963 Arkansas total will be divided $25,050,900 for interstate construction and $8,519,854 for primary, secondary and urban roads. The interstate money represents an increase from this year and the other funds, a decrease. For 1962, the state got $21,504,656 for interstate and $11,182,245 for other construction.

The interstate program is built with 90 per cent federal funds. The federal government pays about half the cost of construction of other roads.

Broiler Men Urge Drastic Salvation

ATLANTA (AP)—Representatives of poultrymen from nine states warned today that the broiler industry is facing bankruptcy unless drastic measures are taken.

Survival of the industry depends upon the immediate slaughter of all broiler hens that have been in production six months or more and a 15-20 per cent slaughter of all other breeder stock now on feed, the poultrymen said.

The meeting, which began Thursday, broke up early this morning. Broiler producers from Georgia, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee and Missouri attended.

Troy G. Sloan of Jackson, Miss., a spokesman for the group, said excessive current production of broilers and indications of continued high production caused the gloomy assessment of the industry outlook.

To speed the slaughtering process, the meeting recommended that prices of hatching eggs and baby chicks be reduced immediately.

Unless these steps are affected by the entire broiler industry disaster cannot be avoided, the meeting warned in an adjournment statement.

Flight Camp in Berlin Is Ghost Town

By JOHN WEYLAND

BERLIN (AP)—By next week the Marienfelde refugee camp, through which more than a million human beings have passed in their flight from communism, may be little more than a ghost town.

The East German regime's barbed wire and heavily armed police between the two Berlins mean virtually the end—at least for the present—of the historic gateway to a new life.

Today, the complex of gray administration buildings and dormitories in West Berlin shows no hint of what lies ahead. The backlog of refugees is still being processed. But since their average time in the camp runs to only 8 or 10 days, by next week they will all be gone.

Then Marienfelde will get only the occasional East German who sneaks over the border. Perhaps 500 to 600 have made it since the closure early Sunday morning. They warn that the ways out are getting fewer, that every escape alerts the people's police to an oversight which is then corrected. The usual story is, "I made it just in time. Nobody else will be able to get through there."

These latecomers are lost in the great mass of humanity now patiently going through the camp's red tape. There have been 10,000 registrations since the crackdown, but most of these already were in West Berlin at the time. Some of them were East Berliners on a visit who became refugees by not going back home.

Thousands of men, women and children stand in endless long lines, waiting for medical examinations, for interviews, for their numbers to be called, for meals. They are glum and silent under umbrellas when it rains, and talk and laugh when the sun makes one of its rare appearances in this cold, wet August.

Most have only a little baggage. Everything else was left behind.

It costs the governments of West Berlin and West Germany anywhere from 50 to 70 marks—$12.50 to $17.50—a day for each refugee at Marienfelde.

There has been but little complaint. Most people looked upon the refugee budget as money to save fellow Germans from a life full of brutality and despair.

Negroes Attend Carolina Movie

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Two Negro coeds attended the Carolina Theater without incident Thursday night as the motion picture house first opened its doors on an unsegregated basis.

The theater, one of two in this college town, had been picketed by anti-segregationists over a period of about five months, this year. The other theater remains segregated.

where work of Arkansas painters, dramatists, actors and other artists will be encouraged and recognized.

The state already has a thriving painting colony which gets bigger each year. Already an Arkansas Arts Festival each spring offers a variety of artistic endeavors in a culture-crammed week. Supporters of the Center hope these activities will grow with the new building.

Rockefeller and his wife raised $70,000 for the Center in a tour of the state. He also got about $250,000 in various commitments from foundations and helped in a drive which raised $200,000 from Pulaski County. The Little Rock City Manager Board added $75,000.

A total of $646,000 was raised to finance the construction. The center has a new director as well as a new direction. She is Mrs. Muriel B. Christison, who moved to Little Rock this summer from a similar post in Richmond, Va.

Foreign Aid Vote Due in U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration forces kept their fingers crossed today as the Senate aims at passage by tonight of a foreign aid bill generally satisfactory to President Kennedy.

The Senate, in a crucial 51-45 vote Thursday, retained the five-year borrowing authority Kennedy requested for financing economic development loans to struggling countries by rejecting an amendment by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to limit the loan program to three years.

Meanwhile, the House headed today toward formal rejection of all long-term foreign aid financing. Administration forces shifted their hopes from an acceptable compromise House bill to an eventual conference with the Senate.

If the Senate sticks to its five-year decision and the House, as now expected, holds to Wednesday's tentative decision to give the administration about what it asked for one year and nothing more, veteran congressmen say the prospect is good for a compromise in conference on three or possibly four-year borrowing authority.

Kennedy originally asked authority to lend $10.4 billion over five years. Treasury borrowing and use of loans expected to be repaid this year were to provide $1.2 billion.

In each of the four following years, Treasury borrowings would have been $16 billion, supplemented by $300 million in repayments of old foreign loans.

Inventor of Loud Speaker Turns 80

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Edwin S. Pridham, whose inventiveness made the world a much noisier planet, celebrates his 80th birthday quietly today.

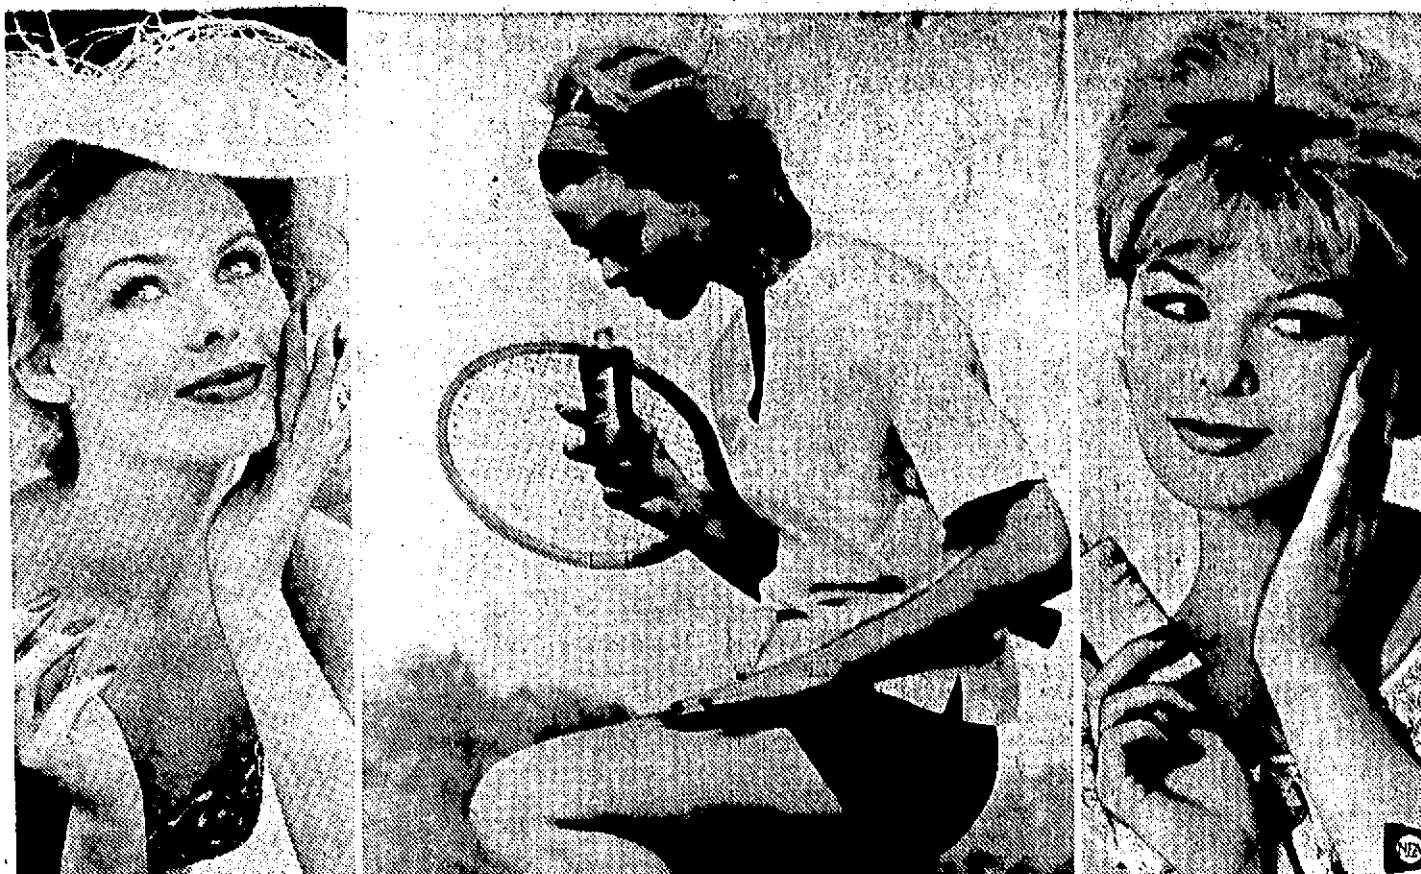

Pridham, some 50 years ago, invented the dynamic loudspeaker—the coil that powered untold billions of decibels in public address systems, radios, high fidelity phonographs and television sets.

Pridham recalled that his invention grew out of an effort to develop a telephone receiver to be more sensitive than those in use in 1911. He worked in a converted farmhouse laboratory in Napa, Calif., after graduation from Stanford in 1909 with a degree in physics.

Summer care for your skin includes (left) a translucent moment you get home from beach or court, apply a moisturizer which tints the skin while promoting a tan. To camouflage a white skin on a tennis court (center), use a coffee-colored lotion that stays on until you wash it off. The essentially beneficial, it is drying to skin.

Praise and Blame

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: This is the first letter I ever wrote to anyone outside of my own family. Your column helped my mother raise me. I have no problems, being happily married and the mother of three wonderful children.

All I want to say is, I'm for in this business of women wearing pedal pushers and shorts on public streets. My 17-year old daughter tells me, "But it's the style, Mother." I insist, "No style is going to make me look like exhibit A in a side show." Sure I wear shorts in the house and jeans in the garden. They give me freedom of movement. But I wouldn't be caught dead in them on the street. Believe me, if some of the women who do wear shorts and pedal pushers in public could see themselves as others see them, they'd beat it for home in a barrel. —Happy Mother.

Dear Happy Mother: May I add that if these same women could hear the comments of the men—my husband among others, they'd never appear out loud in shorts or pedal pushers again—if only for aesthetic reasons. The happy tone of your letter is proof that the philosophy of this column does work. If I help those who turn to me toward a fuller, better life, then my column accomplishes its purpose.

Dear Helen: I don't know what you're thinking about when you say you wouldn't whip a child. In my opinion it's the best way to discipline children. I am shocked that you, who are supposed to know all the answers, would print such a ridiculous statement. You actually hold the world of your late husband, John Erskine, above God. Who do you think you are? Spanking, or whipping children does not hurt them physically for long, but may help them mentally throughout their lives. I dare you to print this! —No Name.

Dear No Name: I wish John Erskine were in the land of the living to answer you in person. Sincerely isn't, I quote from the chapter on How To Be A Parent, in his book, "The Complete Life."

"For most parents discipline is a great problem. They'd like to know how on earth to make the child behave. . . . Behavior is positive action. . . . to be taught and learned quite as much by example as by precept. Discipline should have in it no taint of punishment or revenge. Correctly defined, it is another aspect of companionship. The problem of behavior involves two people. Our children watch our behavior even more closely than we watch theirs. If there is anything wrong with them there's probably something wrong with us. . . . I think any person disciplined as a parent who uses corporal punishment on a child, either by flogging, or the milder slapping, I never saw a mother slap a child who hadn't first to some degree lost her temper. . . . A child once slapped will keep a wary eye on the parent in the future. It's no excuse to say that. . . . a child is a young animal. . . . After the first slap the child knows the mother is an old animal who, if roused, will strike."

Dear Helen: There are two sides to every story. Many who write you see only their side. I've been separated three and a half years from my husband. I don't say it's the best thing but for me marriage was always giving and no receiving. In my present solitude there is at least no

SUSPENSE

A Short Short Story

A VASE FULL OF ROSES
By A. J. BENCHLEY

Ruth was a girl for whom romance never ended. At 27, she had gone through a succession of love affairs and one husband; at 27 she'd become a widow. Yet, it was not Ruth's nature to grieve long; love always lurked just around the corner, leering at her. With Barney, the tall, impetuous, gay screwball, she found love and lost it.

Last it because he was married. Not until they were deeply in love did Ruth find this out and then it was too late. For three years and it had been wonderful. Every nutty and gay thing in life Barney could think of, he injected into their times together. Yes, it had been marvelous.

And the Barney was forced to move to the dry climate of New Mexico for his health. When he left town, things turned tepid but Ruth went on to the next man. She met Paul at the party. Where else? For her party was never over.

At the beginning of every romance, she trained her man — if he wasn't versed in subtleties — to the ways of romance. Ignoring advice by so-called experts in love problems, Ruth talked freely about previous men in her life.

To Paul, one night during dinner, she said, "Yes every year Barney sent me red roses on my birthday. He never failed. A sweet sentimental guy." Then she looked far away sighed deeply and added, "Of course, he's in New Mexico now and settled down, I suppose. I don't expect roses anymore. . . ." She trailed off, smiled, and sighed again. "He would send them without a card."

On Ruth's birthday a plain box came delivered by messenger. She swished the delicate green paper aside, lifted the long-stemmed American beauties and ecstatically inhaled the delicate perfume in their half-open buds.

Paul was there when the flowers arrived, waiting to take her to the concert. He watched with interest as she searched the box. Quietly, he asked, "No card, Ruth?" She shook her red curls. He added, "That should not surprise you. You said he never enclosed a card."

"These are from . . . Barney," she said softly; it was half-statement, half-question. Ruth put the flowers in a large white vase and as she arranged the long stems, she silently counted. Ten, 11 . . . an even dozen men usually sent an even dozen it was customary.

Paul rose from the couch and handed her a cellophane bag; inside, covered with damp cotton, was a pure-white glistening garment.

Being alone, I've had time to think. I believe more reconciliations would be effected if husbands and wives could talk out their differences and keep their tempers. I'm a great believer in letting God take charge — Always Smiling.

Dear Smiling: I agree that there are two sides to every story and often wish that I could hear both sides. As it is, I content myself with reading between the lines and am surprised to find how much the unwritten word reveals. It's all very well to say let God take charge but—"God helps those who help themselves."

"Here," he said, gently, "is my flower for your birthday." He waved at the vase. "You could hardly pin those to your dress. . . . it'd look like you won a race." He paused to help her into her coat. "Are you happy?"

Ruth smiled sweetly, her eyes dancing. "Oh, yes, Paul, very happy."

"I'm glad then," he said, a little sad that Barney had won, in spite of the distance. All during the concert, Paul brooded over it. He had nobody to blame; he'd sent the roses under false pretenses, he let her think they were from another guy.

Just before the Love Duet from Tristan and Isolde, Ruth's cool hand slipped into his. Surprised and grateful — he held it tight and soon it became warm. Then she learned over to whisper an astonishing thing.

"Thank you, darling, for the lovely flowers."

"The gardenia?" he asked.

"No," she said, softly, "the roses."

Ruth ended the matter right there by a reassuring squeeze of his hand.

Ruth knew. Why, if Barney had remembered this time he would have sent a whole vaseful! That screwball always sent one rose for every year.

Ruth smiled secretly . . . who wanted to place 31 roses into a vase and be reminded that middle-age was just around the corner?

Policy Group to Defy Its Legion Critic

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"Great Decisions" discussion groups will be formed here under guidance of the Foreign Policy Association despite criticism from the American Legion.

At a meeting Thursday, 47 community leaders brushed off criticism by the Arkansas Legion's 22-man executive committee, and took initial steps toward organizing the groups.

Members of discussion groups will fill out opinion ballots on foreign policy questions, and the ballots will be sent to congressmen.

The Legion Sunday criticized the FPA for what it called spreading subversive material.

The FPA, formed just after World War I, tries to stimulate discussion of foreign policy by raising questions and printing background material for all sides of each foreign policy question, FPA regional director David Warner said at the meeting.

Revolt of Convicts Is Snuffed Out

By ROBERT W. GILBERT

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Eight convicts, given no quarter by state penitentiary officials and facing a tear gas assault from an approaching Army tank, surrendered late Thursday and released 25 hostages unharmed.

The threatened assault, long planned by state officials for such an emergency, ended an eight-hour revolt in which the prisoners, armed with a toy pistol, pocket knives and ice picks held 5 guards, 3 clerks and 17 fellow prisoners hostage.

They dashed from the brick building and fell to the ground in front of the M40 Patton tank as it stopped 12 feet from the door.

The ringleaders were placed in maximum security cells.

Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton, recalled to Nashville from a Parole Board hearing in east Tennessee, talked with the convicts by telephone and received a list of grievances.

The complaints included lack of recreational facilities and sufficient bathing facilities, lack of television and radio, "brutality" by guards, restrictions on conversation, and lack of justice and respect.

"We're not operating a country club out here," Hampton said. "I made them no concessions whatsoever. We intended to tear a hole in the building and toss 'em fear gas."

The leaders were Raymond Farra and Robert Rivera, who led a similar uprising in March, 1960, which ended with promises of no punishment. Hampton said that concession was nullified by Thursday's trouble.

"We were ready," said Gov. Buford Ellington by telephone from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he spoke to an Associated Press meeting. "We had made up our minds" to use a tank in event of another prison rebellion after the one last year, he said.

"I had just escorted a group of prisoners to the commissary," prison guard Tom J. Bowman, 29, said, "when one of the inmates ran outside and said a prisoner had a gun. I approached the door, and Farra ordered me inside. He had a gun and said they'd kill us if they were rushed, but they didn't want to hurt us."

Conway Workers Turn Down Union

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Employees of the Ward Body Works voted 195-51 Thursday against representation by the United Furniture Workers Union. Twelve votes were challenged but they would not affect the outcome. It was the fourth time in the firm's 20-year history that union affiliation has been rejected.

Howard Johnson Unit Unionized

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Employees of the Howard Johnson Restaurant here voted 14-12 Thursday in favor of representation by the Hotel and Restaurant Employees International Union. The company challenged two additional votes but a union official said they would not affect the election results.

Modern Indians

Nine Little Indians, college size, were invited to Wonderful, Colo., to do Indian dances and ceremonies for tourists. Overlooked was the fact that the redskins had never learned Indian dances and their tribe wasn't hot on ceremonies. But in the interest of harmony between redskin and paleface, they cooked up something that gave a new slant to the West. Don't miss the serial

Alligator Puts Army to Flight

FT. STEWART, Ga. (AP) - A 6-foot alligator proved too ram-bunctious for three Army officers from Ft. Stewart.

Capt. H. E. Motley said he and the other officers were driving a truck on the Army reservation last week when they spotted the reptile crawling along the road and "stopped to have a little fun."

"We took a canoe paddle out of the truck and poked it at the alligator," he said. "It snapped the paddle in two. We started back toward the truck. So did the alligator."

"We got another paddle and tried to beat the alligator off but it splintered that paddle, too."

Motley said they climbed into the truck and the alligator then crawled under the vehicle, chewing off the tailpipe and muffler and biting the axle.

At that point, Motley said, the officers decided they were no match for the reptile and drove away quickly.

Waterfowl Hunting Is Tightened

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Interior Department has drastically tightened waterfowl hunting regulations for 1961-62 in an effort to assure breeding stock for the future.

Arkansas is one of the states in the Mississippi flyway in which the season and the kill limit will be cut. In Arkansas, the season has been cut from 40 to 30 consecutive days, and hunters will be allowed to kill only two ducks per day.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said the restrictions announced Thursday are designed to hold the probable kill to the equivalent of this year's production.

A drought resulted in the worst breeding ground conditions in 30 years. Some conservationists advocated a complete ban on duck hunting.

Husband of Local Girl Golf Champ

Jim MacFadyen, son-in-law of J. G. Prescott of McCaskill, won the Dayton (O.) amateur golf association championship in the tournament at the Ohio metropolis early this month. The Dayton News of Aug. 6 reports that he won the title on the 35th hole, 2 and 1, after trailing all the way until the 35th.

Jim, married to the former Carolyn Prescott, a basketball coach at Gratis High School in Ohio, and the Dayton newspaper remarked:

"If the Gratis high school basketball team collectively has the heart and stomach of his coach has the Pebble counties are in for a winning, if not an undefeated season."

Mississippi flyway states will have the option of 30 consecutive days with daily bag and possession limits of two and four ducks, or 20 days with bag and possession limits of three and six. Arkansas chose the former, said Game and Fish Commission Director Nelson Cox.

The most drastic changes were for the Mississippi and Central flyways, with moderate decreases for the Atlantic and Pacific flyways.

The outside dates for hunting ducks and coots will be Oct. 13 to Dec. 30, inclusive, for the Central and Mississippi flyways. This means the season must open a week later and close a week earlier than last year.

The goose hunting season will be 60 days instead of 70 and 75 days in the Mississippi and Central flyways, respectively.

A closed season for canvasback and Redhead ducks was again provided.

The daily bag on coots will be unchanged at six but the possession limit is cut in half, from 12 to 6.

Worship God In His Holy Sanctuary

"Don't Chunk That Brick!"

...let him who is without sin do it." Of course we live in an imperfect world but we have no right to point a guilty finger. The cynic's seat is filled with accusers.

The finger of scorn does but little good. This is the way of the Pharasee, the hypocrite. It is characteristic of a vain, boastful person who thinks everybody else makes mistakes but himself. Are you one of those low-principled, finger pointing, chunk throwers? Then, it is time for you to straighten up and show your compassion for your fellows. The sinner needs your help.

He has to be understood. He requires assistance. He must be healed. We are, each of us, our brother's keeper. We cannot afford to betray God, nor our brother. The penalty is too great. The American Indian would ask us to walk a moon in his moccasins before we criticize another.

What a plan they used to bridle the tongues of the weak... the boisterous. Neighborliness is at the heart of democracy. Then, since we believe in men, in all men, let us help each other. Let us invite someone to worship with us in church this week.
